

Max Carl VonMach Laid To Rest

Max Carl VonMach, husband of Emma VonMach, died at Mercy Hospital Sunday morning, October 1st. He was born in Germany, June 7, 1885. After his university training before World War I he went to Buenos Aires, Argentina as a mechanical engineer and remained seven years. From there he went to visit his uncle, M. E. VonMach in Detroit, pioneer of the church in Detroit. He worked for Burrows Adding Machine Company for ten years and then thirty years in the engineering department of Detroit Lubricator Company, both of Detroit. He became supervisor in that department in recent years until his illness. He with Mrs. VonMach had been coming to Grayling for 25 years, having owned property in the Crows Creek Township. Illness forced him to retire and with his wife he moved to Grayling a year ago to take up permanent residence.

Winless Vikings Face Boyne City Under Lights Friday

Bad Breaks Give Mancelona Victory

The as yet, victorious Grayling High Vikings travel to Boyne City Friday night to play under the lights and seek the first win of the 1950 gridiron season. Boyne City as usual has a big team but their showing against Charlevoix last week end in which they were trounced harder than Grayling by the Rayders the week before has put a lot of fire in the Grayling camp.

Outgoing the Mancelona Ironmen almost at will, the Grayling Vikings saw what should have been an easy victory go glimmering as an intercepted pass gave the Mancelona squad a 6 to 0 win. Four penalties coming after long gains, two dropped touchdowns aerials and the intercepted pass were the story. The Grayling ground attack led by Fullback Bill Worden who gained 94 yards in 17 tries for an average of 5 1/2 yards per try, rolled up a total yardage of 298 against the Ironmen's 169. But as each drive got down in the shadow of the Mancelona goal a penalty would nullify the effort. Twice passes were dropped by Viking receivers who were all alone in the open with a straight path to a touchdown. Then the Mancelona pass defenders picked off a Grayling flat pass and rammed 72 yards for the winning score.

The local team played the best ball thus far this season but bad breaks finished their chances Friday night. After losing two games, that should have been in the win column, Mancelona and Pellston Viking Coach Bruce Smith figures that Grayling should get a break and bring home a victory from Boyne City Friday night.

October Term Circuit Court Opens Tuesday

The October term of Circuit Court for Crawford County will open next Tuesday afternoon with Circuit Judge John C. Shaffer of Gladwin presiding. A rather light calendar is set for this term with two criminal cases, three non-jury civil cases and two chancery cases on the docket. Two criminal cases involve Roy Jacob Carlson on a charge of larceny from a dwelling and Frank Hunt, former Marquette Prison inmate on robbery armed charge.

Also listed in the court calendar are 11 cases in which no progress has been made in over a year. These cases will undoubtedly be dismissed unless some action is taken during this term of court, it was thought.

The H. McCann, Jr., spent the week end at Riverdale, also their neighbors, the G. Olneys in their cottage to enjoy the opening of archery season.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brandt and daughter from Midland were here for the opening of bow and arrow season.

A large number of bow and arrow hunters seem to be ready for the first morning of trying their luck.

Janine Stillwagon spent the week end home from her school duties in Mt. Pleasant.

Martha Stillwagon and a classmate from Grayling school, Miss Claudette Long, spent the week end at Lovells.

Mrs. C. Stillwagon honored her granddaughter, Martha Stillwagon by inviting eleven young girls in Saturday afternoon to help Martha celebrate her 11th birthday. They all had a grand time and a lovely lunch was served the group by her grandma Stillwagon and her mother, Mrs. Lewis Stillwagon of Grayling. Maryda and Mickey Stillwagon also attended the party. Martha received some very nice gifts in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Morris entertained friends from Saginaw over the week end.

We have decided to change the hour of our Chapel services, hoping to make it better for all, as well as Rev. Seebree. Instead of an evening service our Sunday school services will be at 11 A. M. and preaching at 12 A. M., immediately after Sunday school services. We hope this will be better for all during the fall and winter months. All are so welcome to join us and enjoy the lovely duets brought to us by Rev. and Mrs. Seebree as well as his inspiring messages.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Loeffler and son, Timmy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Drayton at their cottage east of Lovells, spending several days at the Drayton cottage.

Our Sunday school closed the third quarter of the year with very good reports. Having an average of 21 pupils, besides the memory verses learned each Sunday in the different classes. There was a total of 659 chapters of the Bible read and 100% of those carrying their Bibles each Sunday. Sunday school is not only for the youngsters but we need the adults as well, so start coming and help in this work. Let's build our Sunday school and Church attendance to the top notch.

Program Set For Annual East Michigan Tourist Meeting

Lee Wilson Hutchins of Grand Rapids will be the principal speaker at the evening banquet of the East Michigan Tourist Association scheduled for October 12 in Bay City. Mr. Hutchins, immediate past chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council and a charter member, will talk on the topic, "The Tourist Business Is Big Business."

Toastmaster for the affair will be Pulitzer Prize Winner Carl Saunders, Editor of the Jackson Citizen Patriot.

A complete schedule of eight meetings will be held during the day, according to R. H. Fletcher, Jr., president of the association. Resort and restaurant operators will hold a special luncheon in the Marston Room, Wenonah Hotel, at 12:15 P. M., featuring a series of short talks on current problems facing the tourist business. J. R. McDermott, Field Representative of EMTA, will preside. The program has been arranged by Michigan State College's Tourist and Resort Project.

The organization meeting of the East Michigan Winter Sports Council will be held in joint luncheon session with the Bay City Kiwanis Club. Principal speaker at the luncheon will be Robert Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council. His topic is, "The Importance of Promoting Michigan Throughout the Entire Year." Following the luncheon, a business session will be held to elect the community directors of the organization and to make promotional plans for the oncoming winter season.

Also at 12:15 P. M. at the Republic Hotel the traditional Press Luncheon will be held when the members of the Executive Committee entertain the members of the press attending the meeting. Principal speaker will be C. O. Reed of Gaylord, editor of the Otsego County Herald. The Annual Business session will be held at 3:30 P. M. in the Bay Room at the Wenonah Hotel. President R. H. Fletcher, Jr., will preside.

Special entertainment is being planned for the visiting EMTA ladies who will be entertained at a tea held in the main dining room of the Wenonah Hotel at 4 P. M. The hosts are the Bay City Retail Merchants.

Another special entertainment planned for the entire membership will be the Fellowship Hour, at which all members of the association are invited. This will be held immediately prior to the annual banquet at 5:45 P. M. in the Bay Room. The Wholesale Merchants Association of the Bay City Chamber of Commerce are the hosts for this affair.

A short meeting of the Executive Committee is also scheduled between 11:00 and 12:00 A. M. at the Log Office.

SHORT STORY

Felix Retires

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

WHEN FELIX BRENDLINGER retired to private life he ceased to be a "figure" in Mayfield. If you took time to analyze the reason, the answer was simple.

For 30 years Felix had left his home on Pleasant street at exactly 7:35 in the morning, walked a quarter mile to the railroad station, boarded the 7:48 train for Longview, and spent the day in that distant city at a desk in the insurance offices of Booth, Gill and Dyer. Every evening he disembarked from the 5:52 train and traveled the quarter-mile to his Pleasant street home.

Mayfield citizens were used to the sight of Felix walking briskly to and from the railroad station. Sometimes some one would ask him to do an errand in Longview, and he'd always oblige. Frequently he would deliver choice bits of news to friends and acquaintances. Booth, Gill and Dyer had for their clients two large steamship lines, and Felix could tell when the boats arrived in port, or when they were delayed by storms and when important personages were arriving from abroad.

There were a hundred and one things that Felix could and did do that achieved for him a certain recognition. After he retired, Felix ceased to be a figure. He wasn't an especially imaginative person, nor were his neighbors.

The neighbors knew unconsciously that Felix was no longer different from any of them. Felix knew it too. It troubled him. It hurt. It made him lonesome. It made him wonder. It threatened to develop in him an inferiority complex.

Felix tried hard to find pleasure in his retirement. He planted a garden and bought some chickens and occupied his time as much as he could. But it was a physical occupation, and this gave him plenty of opportunity to think. Eventually his thinking changed to brooding, and the brooding nourished the growing inferiority complex.

Felix's wife noticed the change. She tried to talk to him, to learn the source of his moodiness. But Felix couldn't explain it. He felt a little ashamed, and didn't want to talk.

Another month passed and Felix's wife began to think he was a case for the family doctor. Then one day a letter arrived from Booth, Gill and Dyer. They wanted to know if Felix would consider coming in for a few days to assist in straightening out some matters about which they considered him an expert.

"The idea," Felix's wife exclaimed. "Don't they know—but of course they don't—I'll write immediately and tell them how poor you are?"

"You'll do no such thing!" Felix exclaimed, eyes gleaming. "I'm catching the 7:48 in the morning!"

THE JOB lasted three weeks. During that time Felix became a figure once more. People began to use to him going to the train. Unconsciously they fell into the old routine of asking him to do errands and demanding choice bits of news. Felix was happy again. He beamed. He put on weight. He felt important. He was important.

"You'll do no such thing!" Felix exclaimed, his eyes gleaming. "I'm catching the 7:48 in the morning."

On the day that Felix finished up the special work, Mr. Gill approached him.

"Felix, how about staying on with us awhile? You're not old enough to retire. We need you here."

"Need me?"

"As long as you'll stay. Oh, I realize that sooner or later we'll have to get along without your help—but none of us realized how important you were."

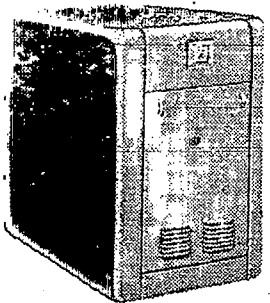

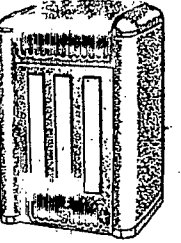

Felix's face glowed. "Thanks, Mr. Gill. You couldn't have said anything that would make me happier. But as far as staying with you is concerned—I'm afraid I'll have to turn down the offer. You see, I've got some chickens and a garden out home that need my attention. And—well—now I'll be able to retire with a clear conscience."

See Good Fall Season

Michigan should enjoy its most prosperous fall tourist season in history, Automobile Club of Michigan travel manager Harry N. Rogan predicted. For more Michigan and out-of-state motorists than ever before have asked Rogan's travel counselors the question, "What's Michigan got to offer in a fall vacation?"

His answer to this question is "plenty." Hunting season is approaching, with the best pheasant shooting in years in prospect, and deer, ducks and partridge also legal shooting.

Fall fishing has always been better than summer angling. And Michigan's conservation department has recently opened 100 spots on lakes and rivers to late fall fishing for big rainbow trout heading up out of deep lakes into feeder streams.

Autumn colors are just beginning to appear in northern Michigan trees, and this season should last past mid-October. Indian Summer with its warm sunny days and cool nights hasn't put in an appearance yet. When it does, the tourist can count on at least two weeks of almost unbroken, sunny, rainless days perfect for enjoying Color Tours.

Reason Rogan gives for his "more tourists" prediction is the cool summer which postponed many vacations. There's a growing practice of taking time off from work at other than summer season also. There's a trend toward shorter and more frequent trips of the week end variety. In recognition of that, more resort operators than ever before are staying open through the hunting season. And their prices are down 10 to 30 per cent.

Michigan resorts did less business dollar for dollar this summer than last, Rogan believes. This was due to cool weather and tendency for motorists to drive farther and stay fewer days in each place.

Auto Club travelmen report that even cold weather didn't hurt business too much this summer in the better tourist accommodations.

"But those few fly-by-nighters who rebuilt chicken coops into tourist cabins were the ones worst hurt by this season," Rogan said.

Roomings over Club travel counters showed increases of 1 per cent in May, 5 per cent in June, 7 per cent in July. But the lag in August brought overall tourist travel to Labor Day down to 11 per cent behind 1949 in Michigan. This is about what areas throughout Wisconsin, Ontario and the Pacific Northwest experienced. Glacier National Park in Montana showed best attendance records through early August, when it was about 3 per cent above 1949. Yellowstone Park was several per cent off 1949's record of over a million visitors.

Offers Plans For Civil Defense

In connection with the newly announced Federal civil defense program, State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, who is also state civil defense director, has completed a series of organization proposals which he has recommended for immediate action.

Leonard outlined the proposals
as follows:

1. Appointment of a state operating staff consisting of chiefs of line services such as police, fire, public works, emergency medical,
etc., and also a property officer.
These chiefs would not be paid civil defense personnel, but would be assigned by other state departments.

2. Appointment by the Governor of three additional state technical committees: evacuation,
air raid shelters, and morticians.

3. Appointment of a paid civil defense co-ordinator for the Detroit metropolitan area who would work under the supervision of the state director.

4. Completion as soon as possible of state-wide surveys of personnel, equipment, and facilities
covering medical, public works,
utilities, etc.

5. Provision by the state for mobile support to stricken communities through the assignment,
under conditions, of State Police,
State Guard and aid from other state departments.

6. Study of the model civil defense act contained in the Federal program so that appropriate recommendations for legislation
can be submitted for the consideration of the Governor and the Legislature.

7. Establishment of a temporary table of organization covering types and personnel required for civil defense squads, pending further advice from the Federal government.

8. Establishment of radiological monitoring services through the appointment of local instructors.
Physics and chemistry teachers are suggested for such appointments.

9. Recommendation that the Governor request Chairman W.
Stuart Symington, of the National Security Resources Board, to specify the types of equipment and supplies the Federal government will provide so that there will be no duplicate purchases on state and local levels.

10. Recommendation that the Federal government pass the necessary legislation and appropriation to cover injury compensation and death benefits for civil defense personnel injured or killed in training exercises or under attack conditions.
